

October 30, 2025: On Continuing Intrusions by Acoustic Bombardments

At 8:57a.m. today, as I read today's headlines, I am experiencing vehicles that are attempting to add 'sound effects' to my news readings - this is a normal and daily interaction with my life as machines (vehicles) are used as 'herding dogs' to dash in front of me wherever I go - both inside of my house (whenever I move from one area to the next) and as we leave to go run errands, conduct business, etc.).

However, today, one item of acoustic bombardment specifically stands out as an 'explosion' sound that was heard inside of my house (much like a firework would sound nearby) as soon as I opened the Drudge Report to check today's news on that website.

TRUMP ORDERS NUKE TESTS RUSSIA WARNS DRUDGE REPORT

In an effort to describe the full and complete picture of my life right now, I am not reaching out for any political speech, I am not contacting politicians during the government shutdown, I am not doing anything other than attempting to live a normal life inside of my own home.

The United States military, under the command of Donald Trump, and the resources of Elon Musk, has moved into our home to cause us an intentional disruption to our daily life, a daily agitation, and a constantly threatening intrusion over our home using the advanced surveillance tools of the United States and its national security surveillance apparatus.

I wish I were exaggerating, or joking, but unfortunately, I am only relaying the truth messages of the circumstances that we find ourselves in as the military is apparently attempting to convince me that it has zero accountability for carrying out crimes of this sort in our modern world.

I am recording these details for the filing of an eventual lawsuit which I have no interest in bringing forth - I have a much better life to live than participating in some 'legal battle' with the teams of attorneys that stand on guard as paid attorneys defending the state and its criminals. However, what other choice do I have as this team of criminals, under the lead of Donald Trump and Elon Musk continues to invade my daily life?
